PATRICK'S EXECUTION IS FIXED.

HOWARD WANTS A TRIAL.

The grand jury has already begun the investigation of the theft of the Farris bill.

The Big Sandy Railway company, of Boyd county, this morning filed articles of incorporation.

NOTES FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, April 7.—President Roosevelt is said to be stirred up over the rejection of his appointment of General Crozier to the place of brigadier general.

It is said that Senator Hanna is ready to put up the $100,000 cash demanded as a bond for Rathbone, but he is endeavoring to have the bill rescinded.

Secret service detectives have gone to Charleston, S. C., to confer with the police relative to the proposed visit of the president.

PATRICK'S EXECUTION MAY 5.

New York, April 7.—Albert T. Patrick, the lawyer convicted of the murder of Millionaire Rice, of Texas, was this morning sentenced by Recorder Goff, and the date of his execution is fixed on May 5. As the case has been appealed, however, the execution will certainly not take place on that date.

LAWYER LOSES A LEG.

Bowling Green, April 7.—Jack M. Russell, formerly a well known lawyer here, who has been fighting in the Philippines, has lost a leg there.

L. AND N. DIRECTORS

CALLED TO NEW YORK.

Louisville, Ky., April 7.—A special secret meeting of the L. and N. directors in New York called today has created something of a flurry in railroad circles.

LEG BROKEN.

SON OF MR. BRUCE GILLEN MAY LOSE A LIMB.

Saturday afternoon late Willie, the fifteen year old son of Mr. Bruce Gillen, of the county, was thrown from a horse and his left leg so badly fractured that the bones protruded from the flesh, and the leg may have to be amputated.

The boy had been to the city and purchased a new saddle which he had placed on the animal to try. The saddle slipped, throwing the boy against the corner of a barn with the above results. Dr. Frank Boyd was called and dressed the injury.

The Regular Term Began at the Court House This Morning.

Grand Jury Impaneled With Mr. Henry Katterjohn as Foreman and Instructed.

MUCH BUSINESS TO TRANSACT

The regular April term of circuit court convened this morning at the court house, Judge Hunslands presiding.

The sheriff and his deputies were sworn in and the grand jury impaneled as follows, with Mr. Henry Katterjohn as foreman: James Hodges, H. C. Hartley, W. T. Pepper, L. K. Hunt, J. W. Morrison, Henry Allcock, J. D. Bennett, L. F. Green, H. C. Turner, W. A. Martin, L. F. Bennett and Henry Katterjohn.

There were four cases against L. A. Lagomarsino for Sabbath violation and by confession the fines were made $10 and costs each for the first three and in the fourth a dismissal was granted on motion of the commonwealth's attorney.

O. Honke, who forfeited his bond, was fined $125 and costs by confession for malicious cutting.

Wes Wilky, Chas. Johnson and Will Wright, of the county, were fined $20 and costs for gaming.

Harold Warford was fined $20 and costs for gaming.

The petit jury will be impaneled tomorrow morning and the cases already on the docket taken up. The grand jury got down to work this afternoon, with a full list of prisoners to indict. This is the last term of criminal court until September, and all the prisoners want a trial at this term.

In the case of Millie Davis against Terrell Bros., suit for small debt for livery stable rent, on motion of the plaintiff the case was dismissed and settled.

After the filing of several motions and answers in several cases, court was ordered adjourned until tomorrow morning.

DRY SUNDAY IN NEW YORK.

MOST REMARKABLE EXPERIENCE OF GOTHAM SINCE CHIEF BYRNES MADE A GREAT RECORD.

New York, April 7.—The police and liquor dealers gave Greater New York a "dry" Sunday today. Though there were degrees of dryness, so to speak, in different sections of the metropolis, the day has had no equal in the suspension of liquor traffic since five years ago, when Superintendent Thomas P. Byrnes tightly closed the saloons on a memorable Sunday. His task, however, is said to have been easier than that which confronted the police yesterday, for he had no Raines law hotels, with their sandwiches, to contend with. These hotels must be taken into consideration, therefore, when the word "dry" is used in connection with the events of the day for the men who had cash to buy a sandwich and a drink had small difficulty in slaking their thirst. Few liquor dealers had the temerity to keep open and serve drinks alone, and of those who did the majority were invited to visit the nearest police station, there to remain until bondsmen appeared.

THIRD DISTRICT

COMMITTEE CALLED.

Louisville, Ky., April 7.—Chairman C. M. Barnett has called a meeting of the Third District Republican congressional committee at Bowling Green, April 17.

BLACK FIEND'S AWFUL DEED

Kills Sheriff and Others and Was Finally Shot By the Militia.

Yesterday Will Live Long in the Memory of the People of Tusculumbia Alabama.

Tusculumbia, Ala., April 7.—Charles Gassaway, sheriff, shot through bowels and arm fractured, mortally wounded.

William Gassaway, brother of the sheriff, shot through and through, also fatally wounded.

Pet Prout, shot through and through, will die.

Jesse Davis, shot through the head, will die.

Bob Wallace, of Riverton, killed.

Hugh Jones, of Sheffield, killed.

James Finney, flesh wound in the arm.

Robert Patterson, shot in the ankle.

The foregoing represents the bloody work of a desperate negro with a Winchester rifle in this city yesterday.

About 12 o'clock Sheriff Gassaway went to the home of Will Reynolds, for whom he had a warrant charging him with obtaining goods under false pretenses from the furnishing store of James Labell. The sheriff was accompanied by Isbell, and, calling to the negro that he was wanted, the latter came to the door, and remarking that he would be ready to go with the officer in a moment, stepped into an adjoining room. When he emerged he had a Winchester rifle presented, which he fired twice at the sheriff. One of the bullets penetrated his bowels and the other shattered the officer's right arm. After being shot down the officer returned the fire with his revolver, but without effect.

After shooting Gassaway the negro sought refuge in the upstairs of the building, where he intrenched himself and, from the partially hoisted windows, poured a steady fire into those who exposed themselves. The others were shot as they were exposed.

The excitement was intense as the bloody work continued, the citizens being powerless to dislodge the negro. A rush upon him meant the sacrifice of possibly a dozen lives more, and for hours the crowd seemed at a loss what course to pursue. The building occupied by the negro was in a hollow, with every advantage in favor of the fiend. Dynamite was resorted to without avail, and, fearing that darkness would come on and the negro escape, the governor was wired to order the Wheeler Rifles of Florence to the scene of carnage.

Under Captain Simpson a score of militia reached Tusculumbia about 3 o'clock. Taking a position behind buildings, trees, and fences, they poured volley after volley into the windows and all apertures of the building where the negro was barricaded, literally riddling the house, but the negro kept up his deadly firing. About dark, as a last resort, it was decided to burn the two adjoining dwellings, and by this means force him out. Balls of cotton saturated with kerosene and turpentine were lighted and thrown upon the buildings, both houses being destroyed, but failed to ignite the house in which the negro was holed up.

After the destruction of the two houses the efforts of the determined crowd were directed to the building occupied by the desperate negro, but it was not until 9 o'clock that their efforts to fire the house were successful. Two or three members of the Wheeler Rifles bravely exposed themselves to the negro's sniping aim, and rushing to the front and rear galleries, poured buckets of kerosene upon them, and dropping burning balls of cotton on the oil, soon started the conflagration. Hundreds breathlessly watched the courageous men, expecting to see them shot down, but they escaped, fortunately, doubtless for them the negro having taken a position in an outhouse, while the fire raged in the adjoining buildings.

At this juncture Jesse Davis and Bob Wallace rushed to the east end of the burning house, and while the former was firing through the up-

A TELEPHONE DEAL SMALL CIVIL WAR

By Wednesday Paducah Will be Connected With Fifteen Counties.

Manager Joynes Goes Down in the Morning to Connect With Metropolis.

ADDS GREATLY TO FACILITIES.

Manager A. L. Joynes, of the East Tennessee Telephone company, leaves in the morning for Metropolis, Ill., to connect the exchange there with the East Tennessee line, which reaches that place by cable across the Ohio river at Brookport.

The connection was agreed on some time ago, and will greatly add to Paducah's telephone facilities. As a result of the connection of the two exchanges, it will give Paducah direct connection with Golconda, Vienne, Brookport, and the subscribers at Metropolis of the latter telephone company, and with all the subscribers in the surrounding country. In all, it will add to the direct connection of the East Tennessee here fifteen counties in Illinois, and will be of vast benefit, especially to the local wholesale trade.

This connection is made at considerable trouble and expense, and gives the Metropolis telephone company the benefit of the cable across the river.

The connection will be complete by Wednesday, and after that time people can talk at reduced rates to friends in Golconda and other cities in Illinois as easily as they can to their friends in Paducah.

LYNCHING IN VIRGINIA.

MOB 200 STRONG QUIETLY AND EXPEDITIOUSLY DEALT WITH A NEGRO MURDERER.

Lynchburg, Va., April 7.—James Carter, a young negro who shot and seriously wounded Don Thomas near New Glasgow, in Amherst county, Thursday, was taken from jail at Amherst court house last night just before midnight and lynched, a short distance from the village. The deed was very quietly and expeditiously done.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock a party of men, estimated at 200, and supposed to have come from the neighborhood of Clifford, seven miles away, where Mr. Thomas lives, rode in the town of Amherst. All were masked or had their faces blackened. When Jailer John Jones left the jail for his home several members of the lynching party made him surrender the keys. Going to the jail, the men secured Carter, took him a half mile north of the village, hanged him to a tree and fired thirty-five bullets into his body, which remained suspended until this morning.

A coroner's inquest returned a verdict that the man came to his death by hanging and gunshot wounds inflicted by parties unknown to the jury.

The shooting of Thomas by Carter was the result of an accusation said to have been made by the former that Carter had set an outhouse on fire. He had been sent to jail to await the action of the grand jury.

WANTS TO LOCATE A RELATIVE.

Marshal Crow received a telegram at noon today from Jack Harrison at Richmond, Ind., inquiring if William Harrison, a gypsy, was here, and instructing the marshal to notify him that his father-in-law was at the point of death if he could be found.

Marshal Crow was unable to find the man at press time.

A Number of Offenders Brought up on the Carpet This Morning in Police Court.

MAN HELD FOR MALICIOUSLY CUTTING

There was a general fight that somewhat resembled a miniature edition of the civil war at Ninth and Court streets yesterday afternoon. It happened in broad daylight and in the middle of the street, and the men involved were all from Mayfield. The names that appeared on the police court docket this morning were: George B. Harper, Walter Wilson, Ed Bullock, C. M. Lawrence and Ed Dillard, and Annie Frazier and Ruby Smith.

There were three Mayfield attorneys here to represent the defendants, and the evidence was partially heard. It showed that two or three of them were cut, but not seriously, and there was a general knock-down. The case was left open and all were held in the sum of $200 except Butler, whose bond was fixed at $400.

The disorderly house case against Mary Standford, colored, was dismissed.

Clay Hendricks, W. P. Farmer, Charles Scott and John Connor were fined $1 and costs each for plain drunks.

C. H. Langston and R. H. Hewett were fined $5 and costs for a breach of the peace.

Charles Nelson, colored, was held in the sum of $1,000 for malicious outing. Saturday night he went to a dance in "Canaan," above Meacham'sburg, and fell out with Charles Smith, and cut the latter five times, in the arms, neck and shoulders. He escaped but was overhauled in the Clark's river section by Officers Miller, Clark and Hovious. Smith will recover.

MORE HOPEFUL.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED TO ARBITRATE THE STRIKE.

The carpenter contractors met this morning and appointed a committee to meet with a committee of the carpenter's union and make an effort to adjust the differences that exist between the men and employers and end the strike. The carpenters' committee was appointed Saturday and the two will meet some time this afternoon.

The outcome is doubtful, but it is generally thought that the strike will not last much longer.

DISTANCE THE DIFFICULTY.

Kroonstad, Orange River Colony, April 7.—Owing to the great distance separating the members of the Transvaal mission here from Mr. Steyn, the former president of the Orange Free State, and General Delarey, the negotiations between the Boer leaders in South Africa, looking to the conclusion of the war, make little progress. It is expected, however, that Mr. Scheik-Dunger and his colleagues on the mission will shortly leave here for a more convenient center from which to conduct the negotiations.

$30,000 BUILDING.

State Secretary Rosevear of the Y. M. C. A. Was Here Saturday

Subscriptions Will be Taken for a New Y. M. C. A. Building for Paducah.

Paducah will probably have a new Y. M. C. A. building at no distant time. State Secretary Rosevear, of Louisville, and Mr. George Monser, of Chicago, met local directors here Saturday night to discuss plans, and decided to raise by subscription $30,000, none of the pledges to be binding until the whole has been subscribed. Then 20 per cent of it will be called for, and 20 per cent every six months thereafter, thus giving all 24 months, or two years, in which to fulfill their pledges.

The work of canvassing will not begin until after another meeting Thursday, at which arrangements will be completed.

Among the members of the Y. M. C. A. who are taking a great deal of interest in the move are some of Paducah's most prominent men, and some of these will each day accompany the gentlemen who conduct the canvass for subscriptions. On this list are B. H. Scott, Samuel Hubbard, W. J. Hills, George Thompson, George Langstaff, S. B. Caldwell, Sr., J. Andy Bauer, George Rock, James A. Rudy, George Wallace, L. M. Rieke, Sr., H. H. Loving, E. P. Noble, George H. Powell, L. L. Bebout, R. E. Ashbrook, W. Armour Gardner, M. B. Nash, Sr., J. Dennis Moeqnot, E. W. Beckman, H. P. Sights, E. W. Smith, David Flournoy, C. H. Sherrill and Charles Q. C. Teigh.

These canvasses have been conducted in other cities of the state with great success and there is no reason why they should not be here, also. About $20,000 has been raised at Covington, and nearly $40,000 at Lexington. Mr. Rosevear has returned to Louisville.

THE COUNCIL.

REGULAR MEETING WILL BE HELD THIS EVENING WITH MUCH BUSINESS.

The city council meets tonight in regular session, with a great deal of business for transaction. The meeting last Monday was a called meeting, and it is the first regular meeting under the new charter.

Many matters will come up for discussion. The Armour people will probably by ordinance be granted a thirty year lease on three and a half feet of city property they have erected their building on through mistake, and the Illinois Central right of way over Ninth street will also be acted on. A report may be in relative to the property belonging to the Illinois Central on the river front for wharf purposes.

There will be many ordinances, the reading of which will require a great deal of time.

The question of a tax collector will also come up. The new charter says that the taxes shall be paid to the city treasurer, and does away with the office of tax collector entirely. It has not yet been decided what the council will do, whether it will undertake to elect a tax collector under the old charter, or pass an ordinance creating the office, or requiring the city treasurer to collect the taxes.

Mayor Yeiser and the street committee, with the street inspector, inspected some gravel pits and street and sidewalk improvements Saturday afternoon, but have formulated no report as yet.

COUGH SETTLED ON

WENT INSANE.

Mayfield Man Burns His Home and Throws Clothing Into Flames

Had Been Losing His Mind for Several Weeks—Will be Tried for Lunacy.

Yesterday morning early Pat Murray, a farmer of near Mayfield, living on the outskirts of the city, fired his house and when the flames had secured good headway pulled off his clothes and threw them into the fire.

Murray is crazy, it is claimed, and has gradually been becoming insane for the past three weeks. His action first attracted notice last week when he tried to make a man come down town and sell him a pair of shoes when the store had been closed several hours and the proprietor had gone to bed. Several other queer actions also aroused suspicion as to his sanity and yesterday (when he fired his home) a rest followed and today he will be tried for lunacy. The home and all the contents was destroyed leaving him and his brother, Mike Murray, homeless. The house was insured but the insurance will hardly cover the loss. The affair excited much comment in Mayfield.

SPECIAL TRAIN.

LARGE CROWD WENT DOWN TODAY TO THE SPEAKING.

Captain J. R. Lemon, of Mayfield, went to Benton this morning to attend the debate.

The morning accommodation train was crowded with Mayfield people en route to Benton to attend the speaking and the delegation was for Crossland. They all wore badges and presented a very good appearance. Hon. Ollie James went down this morning at 7:15 and the other candidates are already there. A special train was run out of Paducah on the N. O. and St. L. this morning leaving about 10 o'clock, for the benefit of those caring to take the trip. It was well patronized.

MUCH WATER.

STRANGE SIGHTS SEEN BY A RETURNING PADUCAHAN.

Dr. I. B. Howell, of the city, returned this morning from Nashville where he had been lecturing at the college of dentistry. He had been gone one week.

In speaking of the rise of the rivers, Tennessee and Cumberland, Dr. Howell said that farms are under water there and that he saw dozens of chickens roosting in tree tops unable to get to dry land. Many fences have been washed away and many ties floated off by the rise and the damage is still great from the volumes of water as it continually pours in over the land.

NEW BOAT.

TALK OF ENTERING THE DEWEY IN THE ST. LOUIS PASSENGER TRADE.

The Globe-Democrat contains a piece of river news that will be of interest to river men in this section. It states that Captain Lee Cummins, of Memphis, has been there to confer with steamboat men relative to entering his boat, the Dewey, in the St. Louis and Paducah trade for the summer. The intention is to use it in the passenger trade almost exclusively, and it is thought that a big business could be built up during the hot months. The Dewey can accommodate 175 passengers. Nothing definite has yet been done.

DANGERS OF PNEUMONIA.

A cold at this time if neglected is liable to cause pneumonia, which is so often fatal, and even when the patient has recovered the lungs are weakened, making them peculiarly susceptible to the development of consumption. Foley's Honey and Tar will stop the cough, heal and strengthen the lungs and prevent pneumonia.

LIVE BIRDS.

Gun Club Has Invited Neighboring Marksmen to Attend.

Paducah Representatives Return From Kansas City Shoot.

The Paducah Gun club will give one of the largest live bird shoots in its history Friday afternoon at its grounds in La Belle park. All the members will likely participate, and marksmen from Mayfield, Fulton, Metropolis, Benton, Murray and other cities, have been invited to attend, and many of them will doubtless be here.

Dr. W. L. Hansbro and Mr. Mose Starr have returned from the National Shoot at Kansas City, and had their eyes opened by the large number of crack shots they found there. Dr. Hansbro was in the first money in the sweepstakes last Monday, but his share was only about $70. Oftentimes there were two or three hundred shooters who made straight scores, without missing a shot. Mr. Starr was in the first money in the Missouri handicap, but these are the only two events in which the Paducahans scored. Several Kentucky men were in attendance, and some good scores fell to their lot.

MAJOR HERSEY COMING.

CHIEF OF THE LOUISVILLE WEATHER BUREAU EXPECTED THIS EVENING.

Major Hersey, chief of the Louisville weather bureau, is expected in Paducah this evening on a tour of inspection, and will probably visit other places in the state. Major Hersey is one of the best known authorities in this section of the country on meteorological conditions and this will make his first visit to Paducah. His visits are to improve weather reports throughout the state.

COMMERCIAL CLUB.

THE REGULAR MEETING WILL BE HELD TOMORROW TONIGHT.

The Commercial club will hold its regular meeting tomorrow night at the city hall, and there may be important matters to some up, although there is nothing of unusual importance ready at present. A large attendance of members is urged.

A SEVERE COLD FOR THREE MONTHS.

The following letter from A. J. Nushbaum of Batesville, Ind., tells its own story. "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine, and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foley's Honey and Tar, and eight doses cured me." Refuse substitutes.

The blood must be purified before the sore will fill up with healthy flesh and the skin regains its natural color. It is through the circulation that the acid, corroding fluids are carried to the sore or ulcer and keep it irritated and inflamed. S. S. HARRY HAS LOST HIS DOG. CAN YOU FIND HIM?

CAN AN EDITOR BE AN HONEST MAN?

The editor of a successful newspaper in one of the smaller American cities writes an autobiographical article in which he seriously answers the above question in the negative. [This editor, who makes his "Confessions" in The Atlantic Monthly, March, goes so far, indeed, as to express doubt whether a newspaper in a small city can be termed "a legitimate business enterprise." He writes:

"It does not do in America, much less in The Atlantic, to be morosely pessimistic. At most one can be regretful. And yet why should I be regretful? . . . I have my own home, a place of honor in the community, the company of the great. You see me married, with enough to live on, enough to entertain with, enough to afford a bit of travel now and then. I still 'run' The Herald; it pays me my own salary (my stockholders have never interfered with the business management of the paper), and were I justly I might have a consular position of importance, should the particular set of politicians I uphold (my 'gang' as my rival The Bulletin says) revert to power. There is food in my larder, there are flowers in my garden. I carry enough insurance to enable my small family to do without me and laugh at starvation. I am about 34 years old. In short, I have a competence in a goodly little city. Why should I not rejoice with Stevenson that I have 'some rage of honor left,' and go about in middle age with my head high? Who of my schoolmates have done better?"

"My regret," the editor then goes on to say, "is not pecuniary: It is old-fashionedly moral. Where are those high ideals with which I set about this business? I dare not look them in their waken faces." He continues:

"Somewhere in a scrapbook, even now beginning to yellow, I have pasted, that it may not escape me, (as if it could!), my first editorial announcing to the good world my intent with The Herald. Let me quote from the mocking, double-headed thing. I know the words. I knew even how the high hope which gave them birth. I know how enchanting the vista was unfolding into the future. I can see how stern my boyish face was, how warm my blood. With a flare of trumpets I announced my mission. With a mustering day of the good old stock phrases used on such occasions I marshaled my metaphors. In making my bow, gravely and earnestly, I said, among other things: 'Without four or five, serving only the public, The Herald will be at all times an intelligent medium of news and opinions for an intelligent community. Bowing the knee to no clique or faction, keeping in mind the great imperishable standards of American manhood, the noble traditions upon which the framework of our country is grounded, The Herald will champion, not the weak, not the strong, but the right. It will spare no expense in gathering news, and it will give the news all of the time. It will so guide its course that only the higher interests of the city are served, and will be absolutely fearless. Independent in politics, it will freely criticize when occasion demands. By its adherence to these principles may it stand or fall.'"

"This was six years ago," remarks the writer, "and events put a check on my runaway ambition in 48 hours." First came an experience with the head of the largest clothing houses in the city, who called with the request that "a little item" regarding a friend's dishonesty be kept out of the paper. The item was a legitimate piece of news, but the argument, "Don't I pay your newspaper for more advertising than any one else?" was convincing, and the editor, after a fierce struggle with his conscience, saw that the "little item" was suppressed. Next came the struggle over the question of legitimate versus "sensational" news. The editor of the rival paper "stole its telegraphic news bodily" and concentrated his efforts on printing "spicy" local items—rumors, petty scandals, and what not. Gradually our high-minded editor, from motives merely of self-preservation, was compelled to follow in his footsteps. After that came the third conflict between the "Independent" conscience and the local political machine. Conscience went under again. "I found," observes the editor, "that as a straight business proposition—that is, without any state or city advertising, tax sales, printing of the proceedings, and the like—The Herald could not live on a year. My friends bought me with public printing, and sold me for their own ends. I saw they had the best of the bargain." He concludes:

"My public doesn't care for good writing. It has no regard for reason. During one political campaign I tried reason. That is, I didn't denounce the adversary. Admitting he had some very good points, I showed why the other man had better ones. The general impression was that The Herald had 'flopped,' just because I did not abuse my party's opponent, but tried to defeat him with logic! A paper is always admired for its backbone and backbone is its refusal to see two sides to a question."

"I have reached the 'masses,' I tell people what they knew beforehand, and thus flatter them. Aiming to instruct them, I should offend. God is with the biggest circulations, and we must have them even if we must appeal to class prejudice now and then."

"I occasionally foster a good work, almost unthinkingly. It would seem. I take little pleasure in it. The various churches, hospitals, libraries, all expect to be coldly indulged, and without returning any thanks whatever. I have railroad transportation as much as I wish, the magazines free of charge, and a seat in the theater. These are my 'perquisites.' There is no particular future for me. The worst of it is that I don't seem to care. The gradual falling away from the high estate of my first editorial is a matter for the student of character, which I am not. In myself, as in my paper, I see only results."

ANOTHER PROMOTION.

MR. LOTHAR SMITH BECOMES CASHIER OF THE EQUITABLE

Mr. Lothar Smith, who has been head bookkeeper for the Equitable Insurance company at Louisville under Messrs. Dilday and Powell, managers for Kentucky, has been promoted to the position of cashier, succeeding Mr. W. Stephen.

The promotion will be welcome news to Mr. Smith's many friends here. He has worked for Mr. Dilday, who was formerly one of the proprietors of the Daily Standard here, for many years, having been bookkeeper for him here, and his rise has been rapid. The position he now holds is not only very lucrative, but is one of great responsibility, and one requiring an extended knowledge of the insurance business, and an ability of high order. That Mr. Smith will fill it with credit and satisfaction is not doubted, and his many friends in Paducah, as well as elsewhere, will wish him the greatest success.

TO HARMONIZE.

BOTH ALLEGED CHAIRMEN TO RESIGN THEIR PLACES.

Messrs. Charles Emery and Frank Digel, who have for several months past claimed the chairmanship of the McCracken county Democratic committee, met Saturday evening in Attorney L. K. Taylor's office, and agreed to relinquish their claims to the office and allow Hon. Charles Reed to cast vote of McCracken county in the approaching appellate convention here April 15, both afterwards to resign and allow the committee to select a new chairman.

JOHN K. HENDRICK THINKS HE IS THE MAN TO BEAT.

Hon. John K. Hendrick, of the city, has returned from a business trip to Franklin, Ky., and at Louisville informed a reporter that he is in the race for the Democratic nomination to stay. "The man who beats me will be the next governor," he is quoted as saying.

PRINCE OF WALES MAY COME.

New York, April 7.—There is the highest authority for the statement that the chamber of commerce of New York will invite the Prince of Wales to attend the dedication of his new home in August or September.

London, April 7.—High diplomatic circles here are discussing plans, believed to be far advanced, for a visit by the Prince of Wales to the United States. The administration at Washington is officially forwarding the proposal for the visit, which, it is understood, receives the personal sanction of King Edward, some of whose counselors urge the acceptance of the invitation as a matter of astute state policy. The splendid welcome accorded to the brother of the German emperor is believed to be a forceful influence in this connection.

THE POT AND THE KETTLE.

There seems to be trouble in the local Democratic ranks, as well as in the district Democracy. Messrs. Charles Emery and Frank Digel, both of whom have for some time past claimed to be the rightful chairman of the Democratic county committee, have met and agreed to permit Hon. Charles Reed to act as McCracken's representative at the appellate committee meeting here on the 15th. The announcement seems to have thrown some of the rank and file into confusion. It is interesting to contemplate the effect of such action, and to inquire into the reason.

There are two features that might with propriety be discussed. One is the motive that prompted the two claimants to the chairmanship to take the action they did, and the other to analyze the objection to such action. In the first place, Mr. Emery claimed to be the chairman of the county committee, and was so recognized by the higher authorities. He was recognized by the state central committee in the appointment of election commissioners last fall, and he was recognized by the congressional committee that met here a short time ago. Mr. Digel was not. The latter may have been under the impression that the meeting was called for the afternoon when it was stated in all the calls that it was in the forenoon, for he belongs to a slow gang, but he was on hand just the same, and was politely informed that Mr. Emery was recognized as the chairman from this county, and had to retire.

The appellate committee meets here on the 15th, and the chairman of the committee is Mr. Mott Ayres, the same as of the congressional committee, and as he recognized Mr. Emery as chairman of the county in the congressional committee meeting, it is reasonable to presume that he would also have done it in that of the appellate committee. Hence it looks very much like, as Mr. Emery had a dead sore thing of it in the approaching meeting, it was only an effort to harmonize the hostile factions that prompted him to ever agree with Mr. Digel, who undoubtedly have been kicked out of the appellate meeting, as he was of the congressional meeting, to allow some third party to represent the county. It is irrelevant to discuss which was legally elected chairman, as Mr. Emery has been recognized by the machine, and this is sufficient. As it seems clear that Mr. Emery desired to promote harmony, it looks a little strange that anyone in his own party should try to counteract the effects of the effort by raising a howl. This leads to the objections that have been raised, which seem to be based on the Democracy of the gentleman chosen, Hon. Charles Reed, who was recently elected to the council by the largest vote polled for the ticket. He was chosen mayor pro tem by the council, which itself held office by virtue of the votes of the Democrats, and this would seemingly completely establish Mr. Reed's claim to being a good Democrat. But he has recently been elected speaker of the lower house, also, which further vindicates him.

The Paducah Register, an organ that gave Mr. Yeiser his chief support last fall in his campaign for mayor, is out in an editorial under the caption, "Democrats this will jer you." It calls Mr. Reed a "gold bug," and declaring that he is not entitled to vote in the approaching congressional primary, warns the "regular Democracy" that the "gold bugs" are trying to get control of the party machinery. The organ in question has probably, in its new-found ardor forgotten that it has itself been dubbed a "gold bug" and that it fought Bryan, Goebel and Beckham, as well as the Democratic nominee for congress in this district although the latter was not even a "gold bug." It fought Mr. Yeiser's battles, and yet Mr. Yeiser, who was elected by the Democrats—whatever it takes these days to constitute a Democrat—has appointed three "gold bugs" on the aldermanic board, and these three "gold bugs" are no more entitled to vote in the congressional primary than Mr. Reed. If the two claimants of the chairmanship of the Democratic committee are entitled to the censure of their party for appointing one "gold bug" for the sake of harmony, to represent the county at a committee meeting, it follows that Mayor Yeiser is, entitled to three times as much censure for appointing three "gold bugs" to high office, and Mayor Yeiser was the candidate of the captious paper that now selects such a remarkable method of promoting harmony in the party that it has repeatedly betrayed, but is apparently trying to square itself with since it took aboard two or three free-silver-or-bust stockholders. When Mayor Yeiser made his "gold bug" appointments, did this immaculate exponent of Democracy raise its voice in protest, and warn the "regular democracy"—the Bryan and Beckham Democracy? Even if there were danger of the "gold bug" faction getting control of the party machinery, shouldn't this be just what the Register wants, considering its past course? When did it become a part and parcel of the "regular Democracy?" How can the paper consistently sound a note of warning to the "regular Democracy" because a "gold bug" has been selected to represent the county at a simple committee meeting, when its own protégé, Mayor Yeiser, has appointed three "gold bugs" to important positions under the city government, that, according to the argument of the Register, ought to have gone to the "regular Democracy," and not a word of protest was uttered?

Such brazen hypocrisy deserves the unqualified repudiation of the Democratic party. The Sun has no desire to control local politics. It is Republican, and has always advocated Republican principles. It does not desire to meddle in the affairs of the Democratic party, but if it did, it is of the opinion that it would have as much right to do so as the aforesaid organ, whose record as a Democrat is no better than that of Mr. Reed, the gentleman it criticized. Mr. Reed did not seek the honor conferred by the two claimants to the McCracken county Democratic chairmanship, and knew nothing of his selection until notified of it.

That Mr. Reed should accept is apparent. He cannot afford to decline the honor because his Democratic record has not been what the free silver wing of the party might have desired, any more than the aforesaid organ could afford to keep mum in the present affair, because its record has not been what the free silver wing of the party might have desired. It is very foolish for the pot to call the kettle black, and very foolish for the kettle to pay any attention to it.

BRYAN IS DYING HARD.

Mr. W. J. Bryan is making desperate efforts to turn the tide of his party against re-organization, for a man who does not want the next Presidential nomination. In the last issue of the Commoner he says:

"The re-organizers have never fought an honest battle in the party or out of it, and they will not make an open attempt to change the policy of the party. They will object to instructions, they will object to the endorsement of the Kansas City platform, without presenting their own platform, and then, if they can secure control of a convention, they will adopt a platform that is ambiguous and uncertain, with the hope of deceiving the voters. If the re-organizers want to make a fair fight, let them introduce a resolution repudiating the Kansas City platform and instructing the delegates to favor repudiation of that platform and the adoption of a gold standard platform. Then the issue can be met clearly and the result will not be doubtful. The friends of the Kansas City platform must be on their guard. If they would defeat the plans and purposes of the re-organizers, they must introduce into every precinct convention or primary a resolution endorsing the Kansas City platform and instructing delegates to vote for the adoption of the resolution in the convention to which they go. If any man is unwilling to be instructed, let him remain at home."

This ought to convince the good Democrats of this country of the absolute imbecility and selfishness of their erstwhile leader, Mr. Bryan. Leaving aside the question of re-organization, it should not require extraordinary intelligence to discern that the Kansas City platform is something to shun, instead of cling to. It has twice added materially to the defeat of the Democratic party, and would do so again quite as surely as anything else. Of course the Democrats stand no chance anyhow, and it makes no particular difference to the Republicans whom they nominate or what platform they adopt in the next campaign. But the misguided followers of the Nebraska Cus flag ought to have sense enough by this time to see that there's nothing to him, discard him and get him out of the way. The spectacle of the fallen hero is now becoming pathetically painful.

The city council is tonight to consider the election of a city tax collector. It cannot elect one under the old charter, which is now obsolete, so far as the municipal government of Paducah is concerned. Whether or not it can create the office under a somewhat ambiguous provision of the new charter even the city attorney seems to doubt, although it has been said that the latter will probably be the munner finally selected as a solution of the problem. The second class charter, however, prescribes that the taxes shall be paid to the city treasurer. He is not required to go out and collect them, but is simply a receiver for them. It seems that it would be economy for the city council to allow the taxes to be collected as the law requires. The city treasurer is paid a nominal salary, $1 a year. His remuneration is supposed to consist of his privilege, as an officer in a bank of handling the city funds without paying interest. As a collector of taxes he would have the privilege of handling much more, and whether or not this would be sufficient to compensate him is a matter left entirely to him. If not, he could resign. The members of the council might take the trouble to inquire if there is not some banker in the city willing to accept the combined duties of treasurer and tax collector for the privilege of handling the funds of the city. If there is not, then it will be time enough to look in some other direction for relief.

There is too much pronounced shooting of pistols among police officers. The other day, according to reports, an officer shot at a fleeing negro and came pretty close to three different men at different times, slipping one's breeches leg. One of the men was a constable. It has been suggested that a gun club be organized among the officers to enable them to become expert shots. If the officers must shoot, they ought to be able to hit what they don't shoot at.

Well, the grand jury's in session now. It's a little early, but the summer resorts are open just the same. And fishing is said to be quite good. The trouble is, the customary resort, the Illinois 'akes, are now filled with water on account of the high stage of the river, and some of the boys will have to go further.

The Washington correspondents report that when Senator Jones of Arkansas appeared in his accustomed place, after a prolonged absence, during which time he was beaten for reelection, he was tendered a sort of informal ovation, and asked how it happened. At last accounts the senator hadn't yet explained.

The planets may now resume their course, the sun put on his hat again, the breathless multitudes emerge from sackcloth and ashes, and the elements resume business at the old stand. "Gov." Beckham is back at Frankfort.

The report that Indians are suffering from want of water in Arizona is rather incredible. An Indiana was never known to suffer for want of any kind of water but fire-water.

When people go to throwing the X-ray on other people's Democracy, they might find some interesting disclosures by throwing it on themselves.

The Bitter Bitter.

"There were two Smart Alecks on my ear yesterday," says a Philadelphia conductor, "and their game was to scare people into thinking that they were just recovering from smallpox. They talked loudly about it for the benefit of other passengers, and the more nervous ones, especially the women, began to grow apprehensive. 'Yes,' said one, 'my case was a pretty bad one, the doctors said.' 'So was mine,' replied the other fellow. 'It seems good to get out of the Municipal hospital, doesn't it?' 'That's what it does,' said the first one. Sitting next to them was a man who had been taking it all in. At this point he leaned over and said, 'Say, when did you fellows get out?' 'Only yesterday,' loudly remarked one of the kidders. 'Is that so?' exclaimed the man. 'So did I. What ward were you in?' Well, any, those fellows jumped off the car as though it had been struck by lightning, and you couldn't see their heels for dust."—New York Tribune.

Do the Best You Can.

A clock with the notion never to strike less than twelve would be a nuisance instead of a joy. It would be like some people—such people as are indisposed to do anything unless they can do some big thing. You could perhaps do a thousand little and useful things while you sit and do nothing, waiting for the opportunity to do some great thing. You are waiting in vain. Learn now that the ability to do great things belongs to those who are disposed to do little things. They are the willing doers of little things who are promoted to the doing of great things.—Word and Way.

Hardships Endured by Gorki.

Although Maxime Gorki has been known as a writer only eight years, more criticisms have been devoted to him than to any Russian author except Tolstoy. He is only thirty-three years of age, was born in Nijni Novgorod, lost his father and mother before he was nine years old, and set out to make his way in the world at a very early age. He wandered all over Russia, undergoing such privations and sufferings that on one occasion he tried to commit suicide. At last, after herding with rogues and vagabonds and tramps, both in Europe and in Asia, he discovered his vocation.

England Growing on the Channel.

The steady retreat of the sea at Dungeness Point, caused by the eastward drift of the shingle, still continues, and has necessitated the erection of another new lighthouse. The building, which will cost $30,000, is to be begun at once. This will make the third lighthouse on the point. The earliest, built about sixty years ago, is now about a mile inland, and the second is at least half that distance from the shore.—London Standard.

Press comments on the Mozart Symphony Club, at The Kentucky Wednesday night: Toronto, Canada:

The orchestral numbers by the Mozart Symphony Club were distinguished by precision of their playing, the grace and feeling, the exquisite shading. Their work was appreciated to the utmost by the audience, which hung upon the strains with breathless interest. Ottawa, Canada: The Mozart Symphony Club gave a grand concert in Harmony hall, which was certainly a rare treat to the large assembled audience. The program presented was of such high quality that special praise would certainly be out of place.

The ensemble playing was marked by the utmost finish of expression and execution. Orleans Playmate: The beautiful music played by the Mozart Symphony club is beyond praise, and every member is a delightful soloist. Seats now on sale at popular prices.

ONE PAINFULLY HURT

Substitute Letter Carrier Ed Riley
Knocked From Buggy.

Street Car Struck a Rig at Tenth and Clay Streets Today.

Messrs. James Glauber and Ed Riley were driving down North Tenth street this morning about 9 o'clock when a westbound Trimble street car struck them at Tenth and Trimble, and breaking one wheel off the buggy, threw Mr. Riley to the ground.

Mr. Glauber was not thrown out, and escaped injury, but the buggy was wrecked.

Mr. Riley was found to have one knee injured, and will be laid up a day or two, but otherwise is unhurt. He was taken to his home at Ninth and Broadway where he is resting easy. He is a substitute letter carrier and is quite well known here.

It seems the accident was unavoidable, as the gentlemen in the vehicle drove from behind the Lally grocery when the car was too near the crossing to stop, and they could not stop in time to avoid being struck.

THE ELKS.

TONIGHT THE COUNCIL WILL BE ASKED FOR STREET PRIVILEGES.

The Elks executive committee will this evening ask the city council for the privilege of closing portions of Ninth and Court streets adjoining the carnival grounds in order to make more room during the carnival. It is anticipated there will be no objection, and if the permission is secured the site will be definitely settled on.

Mrs. Wheelan, the lady who is to have charge of the flower parade, will arrive this week from Kansas City and begin preparations for the parade.

P. D. Carr of Dawson has asked for a concession to place a miniature railway in the carnival grounds, and the railway is a sure go, although it is not settled who will get the concession.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Elks has been given charge of the official program for the carnival.

A great deal of advertising matter was received from Newport, and will be sent out at once.

Manager George E. Wilson, of Cairo baseball club, has written to have a match game of baseball arranged for Paducah between the team here and Cairo, one day during the carnival. The matter has not yet been acted on.

Mayfield lodge of Elks has accepted the invitation to attend the carnival in a body. The day has not been set.

Through Mr. R. B. Rutherford, of Louisville, five cases of Green River whiskey have been received for the country store.

HERE FIRST AND TOOK THEM.

To be Dardenne and the woman posing as his wife, who were arrested here Saturday on a charge of grand larceny, were yesterday taken to Evansville, Ind., to answer to the charge. The authorities at Jeffersonville, Ind., also wanted them, but were stopped before they left Louisville, as the Evansville officers had precedence.

Judge Sanders turned the prisoners over to the Indiana officers yesterday morning, and they were taken away on the noon train.

FIEND'S AWFUL DEED

stairs window he was shot through the head, falling in his tracks, Wallace sharing the same fate.

A glimpse of the negro was secured by scores of armed men as he attempted to get out of his perilsous hiding place, which was by this time becoming unbearable on account of the intense heat, and in a moment hundreds of shots were fired into his body. He fell dead, never a muscle twitching. Instantly the infuriated crowd rushed upon him, fired several hundred more shots into the lifeless body, piled burning fagots around him and left the scene.

It has been the bloodiest and most exciting day in the history of this city, and the memory of the awful experiences will not be soon forgotten. Men and women thronged the streets from the moment the first shot was fired until the tragic end of one of the most brutal, fiendish and desperate negroes brought to a close the day's events.

The negro who sold his life so dearly was formerly a brakeman on the Southern railroad, but more recently from Birmingham. He was about 35 years old, of medium build and was known as a crack shot with either a rifle or revolver.

Relic seekers cut off the negro's fingers and snatches of the body as could be procured.

No fear of an uprising among the negroes is anticipated.

Several horses were killed in the battle. So deadly was the negro's aim that it was possibly an hour before the body of Prout could be recovered. Not a shot was fired by Reynolds that did not tell when those whom he was firing upon could be seen.

Fully 2,000 people from Florence and Sheffield were here and every surgeon in the two towns were pressed into service.

Six-year-old girl and eight-year-old boy.

Mrs. Littlefield and her two children were from Spokane, Wash. At the time the fire broke out, all the persons in the house were up stairs asleep. The cracking of the fire awakened the sleepers, and only Mr. Thompson escaped.

The Teacher Failed.

In a school for colored children there was a little boy who would persist in saying "have went." The teacher kept him in one night and said: "Now, while I am out of the room you may write 'have gone' fifty times." When the teacher came back he looked at the boy's paper and found the task completed. Fifty times, had the little darkey written the words "have gone." But alas, upon the other side of the paper was written, "I have went home."

THE OUTLOOK.

In choice and printing of illustrations the monthly Magazine numbers of The Outlook have greatly improved of late, and the April magazine number has pictorially both distinction and variety. The list of illustrated articles includes an elaborate presentation of the plans for beautifying Washington, by Mr. Elbert F. Baldwin, with a dozen beautiful pictures from the artist's original drawings and maps of "Washington Fifty Years Hence," a thrilling account of experience on the Antarctic Continent by Mr. Borchgrevink, the leader of the expedition of 1893, and the first man to set foot on the Antarctic Continent; portraits and brief sketches of the new secretary of the navy, Mr. Moody, Admiral Kempf, and the Rev. Stopford A. Brooke; a notable article on "Education in the Philippines," by the Hon. Fred W. Atkinson, superintendent of public education in the Philippines, with photographs taken for the purpose; a further installment of Dr. Edward Everett Hale's "Memories of a Hundred Years;" and "The Lambert Masterpieces," an account of the remarkable art collection made by Mr. Lambert, a silk manufacturer of Paterson, New Jersey, with reproductions of paintings by Lawrence, Romney, Reynolds, Botticelli and other great artists. In this, as in all the magazine numbers, the current history of the world and progress of literature are recorded and interpreted as fully as in the unillustrated weekly issues.

THE COSMOPOLITAN.

"What Women Like in Men,"

"What Men Like in Women," and "Husbands and Wives," are the titles of a series of very interesting papers by Rafford Pike, the third of which appears in The Cosmopolitan for April. The same number of the Cosmopolitan treats of Prince Henry's visit, with a series of beautifully printed photographs, under the title of "A Clever Emperor and a Confederation of Nations." F. Hopkinson Smith, Israel Zangwill, Bret Harte and Maarten Maartens are among the other contributors to this number, which is unusually good in fiction.

CITY SUPERVISORS.

THEY WILL BEGIN HEARING PROTESTS WEDNESDAY MORNING.

Supervisors Milam, Emery and Elliott, of the city tax assessors' books, have not yet equalized the assessments, but have reached the "R's" today, and sent out notices to some of those whose property has been raised that they will be heard on Wednesday next.

Prices amounting to several thousand dollars have been made thus far, but nothing can now be told about the probable total amount of raises. The steepest lift thus far was that of the East Tennessee Telephone company. It was assessed $8,000 on a franchise and $8,000 ad valorem tax. The supervisors erased the franchise assessment, as the company has no franchise, and raised the ad valorem tax $42,000, making the total assessment $50,000. A representative of the company appeared before them, but they declined to reduce it, and he will take the matter to the council.

SAVED THE CAR.

UNIQUE CALL ON FIRE DEPARTMENT YESTERDAY AT NOON.

The unusual sight of a street car afire was enjoyed by quite a crowd at Sixth and Broadway yesterday about noon. Car No. 54 caught fire and the motorman was unable to put out the blaze, and had to call the fire department. The blaze was extinguished with little loss.

SURVIVOR OF THE WRECK

OF THE GENERAL LYONS.

Marion, Ill., April 7.—Joseph Williams, one of the survivors of the wreck of the General Lyons at sea during the Civil War, is dead at his home near this city. The steamer was laden with soldiers, many of whom were homeward bound, at the expiration of their service, when the ship burned. Only four were saved, after many hours' drifting on floating timber at sea. Two are yet living. Williams was a soldier in the Fifty-sixth Illinois regiment.
